About C² IT Advisors

C² IT Advisors is a strategic Information Technology advisory firm. Progressive organizations recognize the increasing importance Information Technology has in their success. Once relegated to the back room or viewed purely as a cost center, business leaders now see the strategic advantage in having an efficient Information Technology environment.

C² IT Advisors, LLC serves growing companies, generally in the middle tier. It is common that such a company where Information Technology is not their core business would have a significant Investment in their technology infrastructure, but recognizes the importance Information Technology plays in achieving their goals.
